Building Exemplary Systems of Training for Youth Workers

USING TECH TOOLS TO TRANSFORM YOUR YOUTH PROGRAMS

For many people, adapting to a virtual working world has meant shifting to various online platforms in order to continue their work. From Zoom to Google Classroom to virtual field trips, people have turned to several creative online tools since the pandemic began. This training will take participants through the basics of a few of those online platforms (Zoom, Google Classroom, Class Dojo, and others) and offer up other resources that youth workers can use to enhance their programs. Participants are encouraged to share any successes they've had transitioning to online work, and any challenges as well. This will be an interactive online session, so come prepared to share and participate!

Discover new online tools to use in your programming.

Share success stories and challenges from transitioning to online youth work.
